General Trade Services

Guaranteeing the quality and integrity of your international transactions

BUSINESS CHALLENGE

International trade is on the rise and involves an increasing number of players including traders, brokers, banks, insurance companies and public bodies at both national and international level. In any transaction where goods are bought and sold, there is a transfer of ownership. This is made more complicated by the fact that the transaction is taking place across different countries. The various parties need guarantees from an independent third party to provide reassurance of the conformity of goods.

SOLUTION

What are General Trade Services?
General Trade Services are third party inspection or brand audit services based on visual aspects and appearance. These can be provided at any stage of the production process along the supply chain.
Main objectives:
- Verification of product compliance in terms of workmanship and quantity
- Reduction of production errors rate
- Rationalization of commercial practices and optimization production flow

What are the key benefits?
- Confidence in manufacturer's ability to deliver a product that meets your requirements.
- Minimize costs resulting from defects during the production process
- A guarantee for the buyer that the goods ordered are the goods shipped
- Ensure that goods or services meet current regulations and conform to contract specifications

OUR APPROACH

The usual process is as follows:

• Definition of the scope of the mission
The client defines the framework and scope of the inspection mission with Bureau Veritas. This can include the specifications of the product to be inspected, the issuance of a check-list, and the definition of our involvement. The format of the reporting document is agreed with the client in order to meet expectations

• Mission
Once the scope of involvement has been defined, Bureau Veritas identifies the most appropriate inspector and sends him the inspection order with all the required information (technical details, specifications, check-list, etc).

• Reporting
As soon as the inspector has completed his mission he reports his findings and transmits them directly to the Bureau Veritas local office which will formalize the results for the client.
Detailed information on procedures in force in countries currently under contract is available from our local Bureau Veritas Offices.

FAQ

What specific services can be provided?
